

The first step is open the program Discware Lite. You should see the following screen.

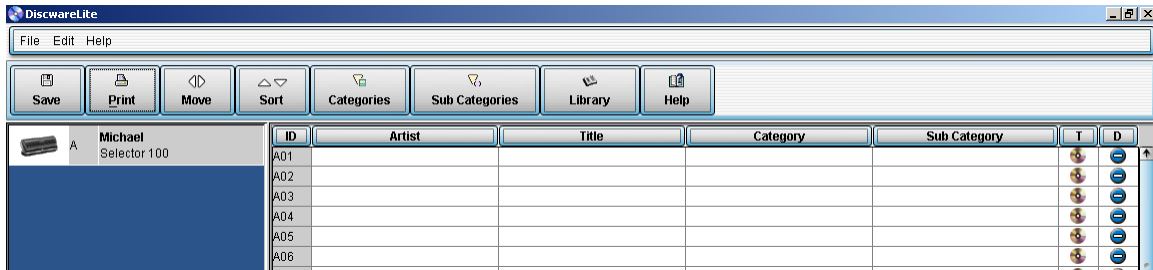

You will be able to see all of your units in the left column. For example, I have 'Michael'. To add a new unit, click 'Add Unit'. The following window should open.

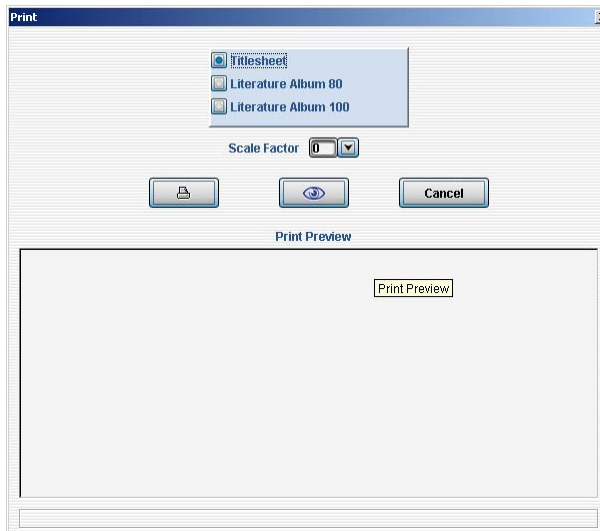

Here, you can give you new unit a name, such as 'My Movies'. Now select the box next to the type of uit you have. For example, if you have a Discus 40, you would click the box in front of the Discus 40 image. Click 'OK' when you are finished.

Back at the main screen, you can enter all of your data in the white spaces in the right side of the page. Once you have finished, you may sort your discs by clicking on the column headers (i.e. Artist).

When you are ready to print your titlesheet, click 'Print'. You should see the window below appear.

To print your titlesheet, leave the check mark on the 'Titlesheet' setting. You may now print your titlesheet. The Literature Album 80 and 100 will print the contents of your unit as if it were to be placed inside a Literature Album 80 or 100.
